

3.1.1947

Extract from

OFFICIAL POST OFFICE GUIDE.

Stamps.

PERFORATION WITH INITIALS.

Stamps may be perforated with initials (but not with names or trade marks) provided that the perforation holes are not larger than those dividing one stamp from another in a sheet of stamps.

The work of perforating stamps is not undertaken by the Post Office.

Any officer of the Post Office who undertakes this business does so in his private capacity and not as an agent of the Postmaster General who has no responsibility in the matter.